

Udall Legacy Bus Tour

June 12 - August 4, 2007

THE MISSION

A public service-focused, educational biodiesel bus tour honoring former Arizona Congressman Morris K. Udall's legacy by highlighting young people nationwide who are finding solutions to America's pressing environmental and Native American issues.

THE NUMBERS

- 8,606 Miles
- 54 Days
- 26 Cities
- 6 National Parks
- 6 Native American Communities
- 13 Udall Scholars
- 1 Biodiesel Motor Coach

THE ROUTE

PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

- Educational outreach with Bronx River Alliance and Bronx Community College | Bronx, NY
- Replanting New Orleans for healthy soil and an urban canopy | New Orleans, LA
- Building campgrounds with the Confederated Tribes of the Grand Ronde | Grand Ronde, OR
- Hosting a community art show on sustainability | Boulder, CO
- Exploring national parks through photography with local youth | Grand Teton National Park, WY

NOT YOUR AVERAGE BUS

The Legacy Bus will be the first motor coach certified by the University of Vermont's new "Green Coach Certification" program. Fueled by B-20 biodiesel, the bus will also be equipped with emissions-monitoring hardware and the real time data will be posted on the tour's website. In addition, carbon offsets purchased through Native Energy will help the Foundation reach its goal of hosting a carbon-neutral tour.

THE LEGACY

Mo Udall's congressional career was distinguished by his efforts to preserve and protect America's national heritage. In honor of that legacy, the bus tour will focus on highlighting initiatives nationwide in Native American communities, sustainable cities, biofuels, national park stewardship, and more.
